Is the Washington street side of the City Hall a station for the La Salle Hotel taxis? Who permits this?

Unless the Northwestern Elevated gives better local service and makes all express trains stop at all express stations the city council should revoke the ordinance.

The Telephone Trust is a wonderful friend of labor. That is, if you believe Phone Trust Aldermen and professional Phone Trust labor skates. You will recollect that the main reason that telephone rates were not reduced in Chicago was because the Phone Trust declared that it needed its surplus to raise the wages of its employes. Right on the heels of this came the strike of 2,200 employes of the Phone Trust in Boston, Mass. The Chicago branch of the Trust is reported to have sent on 300 of its employes from here to break the strike. Over 1,000 emergency workers were brought from other cities to Boston hotels and this Could the traction "service" of the Chicago Railways Company be worse

A general cleaning out of the management of the Chicago Railways Company is necessary.

Who is the chief beneficiary of the "automatic gas shut off" device? This wholly unnecessary invention has been folsted upon the property owners of Illinois to benefit some one. Now, who is the beneficiary? The shut off scheme costs the taxpayers about $200 for every building, and that it is not needed is proven by the fact that people existed without it for all time before the grafters behind it got to Judge James C. Martin is making splendid record on the Municipal Court bench.

If the Council abolishes the flat telephone rate for the reason that the telephone trust asks it to abolish it, then the Council should order the company to give a rebate of two cents phone trust complains that flat rate phones increase its burden 25 per cent. That users of flat rate phones only pay one and a half cents a call, while the whole service, medium and flat, costs the company over two cents a call. Very well, let the Aldermen say to the phone crowd: "We have cut off 25 per cent of your burden. This will increase your revenue. Give the people the benefit and let them have a rebate of two cents '7 every call."
